

Dear John Smith,

The Supreme Court of Victoria has ordered that you receive this notice because you may be a group member in the JB Hi-Fi Class Action.

The JB Hi-Fi Class Action is about extended warranties sold with consumer goods such as electronics and home appliances, either online or in-store, between 1 January 2011 and 8 December 2023 (the Relevant Period).

JB Hi-Fi's records show that you purchased an extended warranty during the Relevant Period. This means you may be a group member.

Please read this notice carefully. You should also read the full Opt Out Notice here: <https://www.mauriceblackburn.com.au/jbhifi/optoutnotice>

You do not have to do anything right now if you want to participate in the JB Hi-Fi Class Action.

If you do not want to participate, you must fill out the form here.

The deadline to opt out is 29 May 2026.

If you opt out, you will not be eligible to claim money from any settlement or judgment in the JB Hi-Fi Class Action, and no part of any claim you may have will be determined by the JB Hi-Fi Class Action, but you may pursue any rights you may have independently.

You should also read the full Opt Out Notice available here before you opt out.

The JB Hi-Fi Class Action alleges that the JB Hi-Fi extended warranties had little or no value because customers already had the same rights for free under the Australian Consumer Law.

Among other things, the JB Hi-Fi Class Action asks the Court to:

- a) declare that all JB Hi-Fi extended warranties purchased between 9 December 2017 and 8 December 2023 are void (i.e. are of no effect); and
- b) to give each consumer a refund of what they paid for those extended warranties as well as interest on that refund.

JB Hi-Fi denies the allegations and is defending the class action.

If the JB Hi-Fi Class Action is successful it means that the Court has found that your legal rights under the Australian Consumer Law are similar to or better than those under the extended warranty that JB Hi-Fi sold to you. If your extended warranty has not expired, you would not be able to rely on that warranty if something goes wrong with the consumer good(s) you purchased because the Court will have found it is void and of no real value to you.

However, you will be compensated for having purchased the warranty, and you would still be able to rely on your legal rights under the Australian Consumer Law, which you have for free.

Visit Maurice Blackburn's website for more information on the claims and for a copy of the full Opt Out Notice: <https://www.mauriceblackburn.com.au/jbhifi>

The links in this email are legitimate and safe to click. To confirm this notice's legitimacy, you can also visit the Supreme Court of Victoria's website here: <https://www.supremecourt.vic.gov.au/areas/group-proceedings/jb-hi-fi-class-action>

The Proceeding Number for this class action is S ECI 2023 05830.

Kind regards,

The Maurice Blackburn JB Hi-Fi Class Action Team