It's worth making sure.

Check your super for free.

If you or your partner have had to stop work because of injury, illness or any medical condition, you may be able to make a super claim.

Most superannuation funds have insurance that covers you for a TPD lump sum payout, which can help ease financial pressures if you have stopped working. It doesn't matter how you got sick, or whether your injury was work related.

Maurice Blackburn Lawyers have specialist superannuation insurance lawyers who can check your super for free.

Injured at work?

Dos and Don'ts

Do:

- Report the incident in writing
- See your personal doctor
- Obtain a WorkCover certificate
- Lodge a WorkCover claim form if time off work or medical treatment is required
- Seek immediate advice from your union or Maurice Blackburn

Don't:

- Suffer in silence
- Allow your supervisor to be present during the medical consultation
- Fail to report the injury
- Continue working against medical advice
- Fail to use your union services
- Fail to get specialist legal advice
